Reds Are Scored In Frogman Act

Publicity by Soviet of British Note On Skin Diver Irks Foreign Office

London, May 12 (AP)—The British foreign office grumbled at Russia today for publicizing Britain's apology on the incident of the mysteriously vanished frogman.

Lionel (Buster) Crabb, retired Royal Navy skin diver, disappeared on April 19 while swimming in Portsmouth harbor in the vicinity of Soviet warships which brought Soviet leaders Bulganin and Khrushchev to Britain on an official visit. His body never has been found and there is no certainty as to what happened to him.

LAST NIGHT Moscow radio announced that Russia had sent a note to the British foreign office saying it was "attaching great significance to such an unusual fact as the carrying out of secret diving trials alongside Soviet warships" and asking for an explanation.

The broadcast said the British foreign office had replied that a diver seen near the warships by Soviet lookouts on the morning of April 19 probably was Crabb but his mission was not authorized and Britain was sorry.

The British government refused to comment on the broadcast last night. But today a foreign office spokesman officially admitted the apology had been made.

He said the Moscow version of Britain's apology was identical with the text of a British note except for minor differences arising from translation.

HE THEN declined further comment except to make a slighting suggestion that Moscow had violated diplomatic etiquette by disclosing the apology. "When an exchange of notes takes place between nations, it (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

French Kill 109 Rebels In Algeria

Planes Wipe Out Supply Caravan

Algiers, Algeria, May 12 (AP)—French paratroopers and infantrymen cut their way out of two rebel ambushes east of Algiers today. Army authorities said 109 of the attacking Algerians were slain.

French military dispatches said the paratroopers came under fire 45 miles west of Philippeville as they carried out a mopping-up operation.

The French claimed 79 rebels killed and admitted to one paratrooper dead and another wounded in action.

SHORTLY AFTERWARD in the same region a French Army detachment fought its way out of a rebel ambush, killing 30 Al-

VANISHED 'FROGMAN'—This picture of Lionel "Buster" Crabb, 46-year-old British skin diver, was taken as he prepared for an underwater dive prior to his April 19 disappearance near a Soviet cruiser then anchored in Portsmouth, England, harbor. Moscow papers, May 11, charged Crabb was engaged in spying. British Prime Minister Eden said "It would not be in the public interest" to disclose circumstances of Crabb's disappearance. Ike Plans Golf Trip After Exam

Detailed Report Due Later Today

Washington, May 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower received an "excellent" report on his physical condition today after a two-day, head-to-toe examination by doctors at Walter Reed Hospital.

"I THINK the results of the exam were excellent," Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, told reporters preparatory to issuing a detailed account of the physician's findings.

As if to bear out the optimism of the report, Eisenhower planned to go to Burning Tree Country Club for a round of golf immediately after leaving the hospital late this morning.

He entered the Army hospital Thursday night for an annual checkup including tests to determine the degree of his recovery from the heart attack he suffered last Sept. 24.

SCORES of patients and staff members stood around the Presidential entrance waiting for the President to leave.

He spent part of the morning discussing official business with Hagerty.

With Eisenhower a candidate for re-election, the examination reports take on unusual political significance.

The President entered the hospital late Thursday afternoon. A staff of physicians gave him a series of examinations yesterday. He also found time to visit some ailing friends at the hospital and to play a surprise visit to the children's ward.

THE MEDICAL tests included chest x-rays and cardiograms, tracing heart performance in the light of the coronary thrombosis Eisenhower suffered last Sept. 24. The heart studies on this occasion were part of the general physical checkup of the sort the President has been having annually for the past several years.

Late yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Anne Whitman, Eisenhower's personal secretary, went to the hospital with some letters for him to sign and some other official documents. She was his only (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

Mother's Day Will Be Hot, Humid

Albany, N. Y., May 12 (AP)—Tomorrow—Mother's Day—will be hot and humid in New York state but Mom might have to duck an occasional thundershower.

Forecasters said temperatures would range from the 70s to the low 80s across the state and there was a good chance the sun might break through. But scattered showers and thundershowers posed a threat, they added, particularly in late afternoon and evening.

Negotiations Collapse For Prudential Terms

Negotiations, in Washington, D. C., between the Insurance Agents' International Union, AFL-CIO, and the Prudential Insurance Company of America have collapsed and members of the union's negotiating committee have returned to their homes, a union spokesman told The Freeman today.

Officers of the union will carry on daily discussions with the company committee under the auspices of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service.

"Our membership would prefer to work without a contract than to submit to this new plan of bondage," President George L. Russ of the Insurance Agents' International Union announced.

"Our thousands of members will continue to work without a contract and will continue to bend every effort to negotiate a satisfactory agreement."

He said there would be a meeting of the union's general executive board in Washington May 15 at which events of the past few months would be reviewed to determine a future course of action.

A local union spokesman said (Continued on Page 3, Col. 8)

Probe Launched of Suffolk County Corruption Charges

Riverhead, N. Y., May 12 (AP)—Bronx County Supreme Court Justice George Tilzer has formally opened a probe of charges of corruption among Suffolk county officials.

The justice convened a special trial term of the Supreme Court here yesterday. He signed an order for the drawing of 100 names of prospective grand jurors.

Tilzer was shifted here last week by Gov. Averell Harriman to oversee the work of the special grand jury investigation.

The inquiry followed charges by Democratic State Commissioner of investigation J. Irwin Shapiro that Suffolk officials—all Republicans—had been buying county supplies without competitive bids and had been selling tax liens to favored real estate dealers.

George W. Percy Jr., a Democrat, will direct the probe. He was appointed district attorney of Suffolk by Harriman on March 20 to succeed Republican Harry C. Brenner, who resigned.

The drawing of 100 names of prospective grand jurors will take place at 2:30 p. m. next Tuesday. The job of picking a grand jury of 23 from this panel will begin June 4.

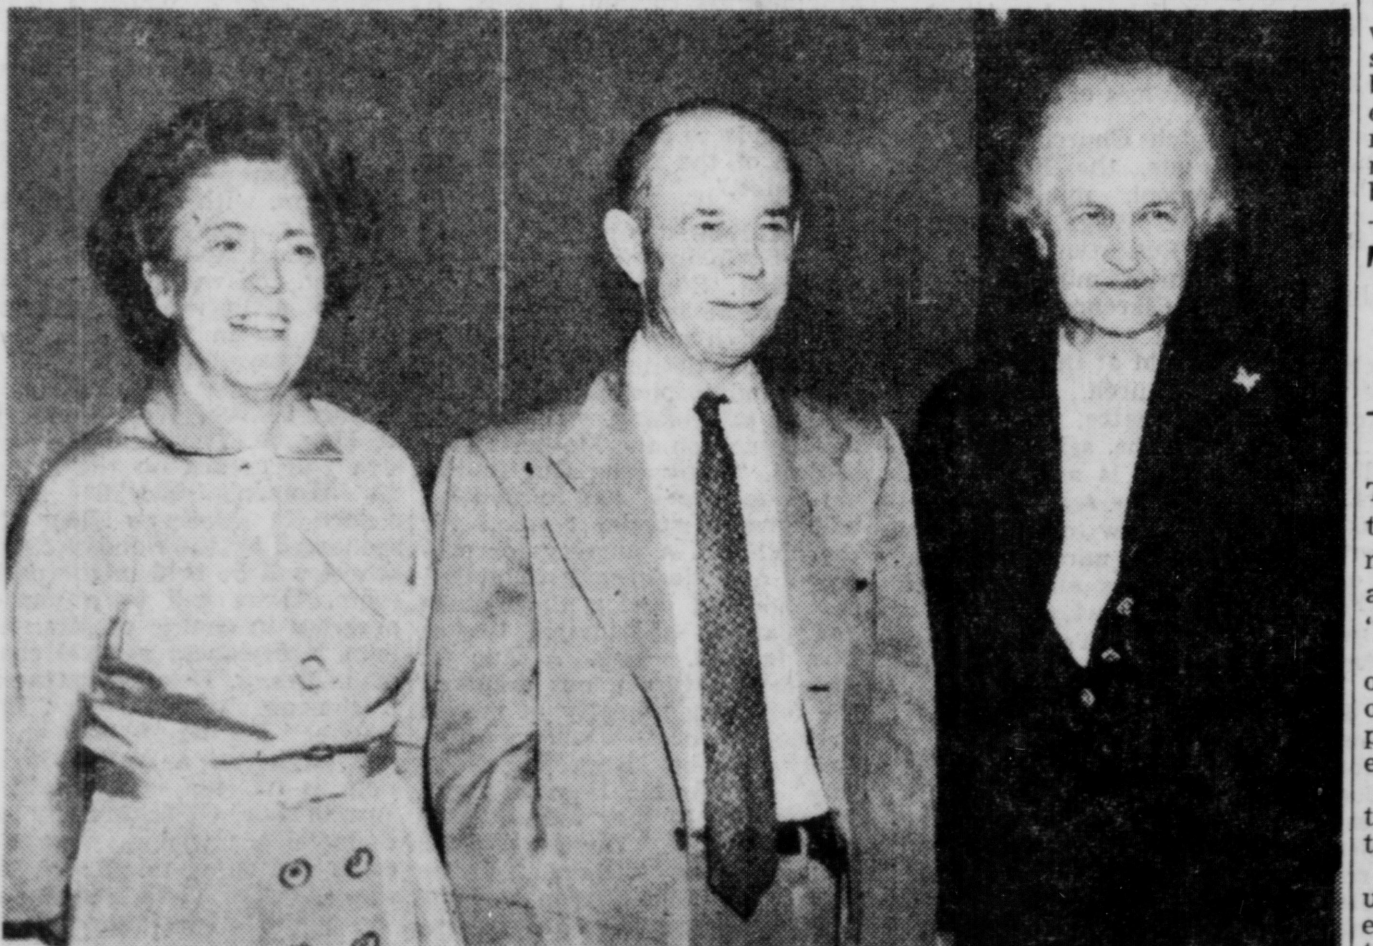

Percy said that as soon as the jury is selected he will start examining 100 or more witnesses.

"We shall go into all the charges by Commissioner Shapiro, and much more besides," he said yesterday. "We are not limited to his accusations alone."

Percy also announced appointment of a new assistant. He is Henry M. Zaleski, a Democrat who is a lawyer and a justice of the peace here.

Zaleski will succeed Republican Henry Tasker next Tuesday. Tasker is former chief assistant to Brenner.

Percy previously appointed Robert P. Vickers and Francis Costello as assistants.

RETIRING SCHOOL TEACHERS—Thousands of men and women who attended local schools will remember these three teachers, now retiring, after many years of service in the field of education. They are (l-r) Miss Ethel M. Hull and Raymond Woodard of Kingston High School faculty, and Miss Anne E. Whalen of Public School No. 3. (Freeman photo).

Teacher Salary Aid Hit As 'Coming too Late'

Albany, N. Y., May 12 (AP)—The head of a statewide union of teachers said today that the 123-million-dollar increase in school aid voted by the 1956 Legislature "came too late."

"It cannot create teachers overnight," said Eliot Birnbaum of Syracuse, president of the Empire State Federation of Teachers.

"It will take years to re-establish the drawing power of teaching as a career."

Birnbaum, president of the union, said in a report at the executive committee's post-legislative meeting that new state-mandated minimum salaries offered "so little" to teachers with long service.

The new legislation fixed a minimum pay scale ranging from $3,500 for beginning teachers to $5,100 for those with 10 years experience.

Birnbaum said the $5,100 top "already is exceeded all over the state."

Birnbaum said "the long-predicted shortage of teachers" had become "a bitter reality" across the state. Many classes, he said, "already are being taught by teachers lacking basic license requirements."

Birnbaum, pledged to work in the 1957 Legislature for limitations on class size and teaching loads, duty-free lunch periods, higher salaries and fringe benefits.

"Any other approach to professional status is diversionary and illusory," he asserted.

$372,351 Low Bid For Rt. 209 Work

A low bid of $372,351.05 for widening and resurfacing a section of Route 209 from Spring Glen to the Ellenville village line was announced today by John W. Johnson, state superintendent of public works.

The bid, one of four received, was submitted by the Amsterdam Excavating Company, Inc., of Amsterdam. The contract calls for widening and resurfacing a 4.19-mile section of Route 209, starting at Spring Glen at the Ulster-Sullivan county line and extending northward to the Ellenville village line.

THE EXISTING 16-foot wide road will be widened to 24 feet (two lanes) and resurfaced with asphalt concrete, with several sections being put in on new location in order to straighten the road and ease existing grades.

Included in the project will be the widening of a bridge over the Leurenkill Creek, construction of all necessary drainage structures and facilities, erection of guide posts and cable guide railing, landscaping and miscellaneous other related work.

Work is expected to get under way in about a month, following a check by State engineers of all bids received. If the low bid is declared acceptable after this review, a formal award of the contract will be made and necessary contract forms will be processed. The time lapse between receipt of bids and contract execution is normally three weeks.

Scheduled for completion by August 1, 1957, all work will be under the supervision of Kurt G. Rauer, Acting District Engineer in charge of the Department's district office in Poughkeepsie.

Traffic on the route will be maintained during construction.

Teachers Group Of Westchester Hears Irene Cuff

Miss Irene Cuff of Mt. Kisco and Kingston, a teacher at Pound Ridge School, addressed a recent meeting of Westchester County Teachers Association.

Miss Cuff, chosen by the Westchester Branch of the National Council on Reading to speak on word perception in intermediate grades, is a former reading consultant for Scott, Forsman and Company.

She stressed the importance of teaching word attack skill on these grade levels in order that word perception ability becomes second nature.

As children progress through the intermediate grades they are confronted by an increasingly difficult vocabulary that conveys new concepts and ideas in the content subjects. Word meanings as well as word forms, present reading hurdles, she said.

Only through mastery of word attack skills from building a sight vocabulary through efficient dictionary use, will they be able to perceive words effectively, Miss Cuff said.

Tractor Tires Go Up in Flames

Two tires on a tractor-trailer suddenly burst into flame early this morning when an attendant at the Thruway Gas Station at the Kingston interchange jacked up the trailer to repair a flat tire.

Attendants attempted to extinguish the blaze with extinguishers but were unable to do so and placed a call with the Kingston Fire Department. The Huxley Fire Department was notified through mutual aid and dispatched its truck with Winifred Snyder and John I. Pece aboard.

The tires were reported badly burned. Time of the fire was set at approximately 2 a. m.

An attendant at the gas station told The Freeman this morning that the driver of the tractor-trailer left the trailer parked in the Thruway parking lot nearby and drove off in the tractor part of the vehicle.

He was unable to identify the tractor-trailer except to say that it was privately owned. Efforts to reach Mr. Snyder and Mr. Pece were unsuccessful.

There was no explanation why the tires burst into flame.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Walter S. Gemmill Jr. who passed away 4 yrs. ago May 12, 1952. It is not tears at the grave-side shed. That tell how the heart is torn But the lonely tears of after years.

In sorrow so silently borne. And at night when all is silent, And sleep forsakes our eyes. Our thoughts are out on that silver grave.

Where our beloved lies.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Walter S. Gemmill Jr. who passed away 4 yrs. ago May 12, 1952. It is not tears at the grave-side shed. That tell how the heart is torn But the lonely tears of after years.

In sorrow so silently borne. And at night when all is silent, And sleep forsakes our eyes. Our thoughts are out on that silver grave.

Where our beloved lies.

Farm Home Loans Again Available

F. A. Norman, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration, announced today that funds are again available for the making of farm housing loans.

The basic objective of farm housing loans is to provide decent, safe and sanitary farm dwellings, essential farm service buildings and related facilities to farm owners who do not have sufficient resources to provide such housing and cannot secure credit from other sources on terms and conditions which they reasonably could be expected to fulfill.

THE APPLICANT'S farm must be in agricultural production and be of such size and productive capacity that it will produce agricultural commodities in sufficient quantities that the proceeds from their sale will be a substantial portion of the operator's total cash income. The property must be recognized in the community as a farm rather than a rural residence.

To be eligible an applicant must be a citizen of the United States, a farm owner, have sufficient income to meet farm and home operating expenses, capital replacements, payments on existing debts and payments on the proposed farm housing loan. He must also have the ability and experience necessary to carry out successfully the farming operations.

Farm housing loans cannot be made to a corporation or cooperative association; nor can loans be made to pay debts incurred prior to the closing of a farm housing loan. Farm housing loan funds can be used to construct, improve, alter, repair or relocate the dwelling or alter essential farm buildings; to provide a water supply for dwellings and other farm buildings; the purchase and installation of essential equipment that becomes a part of the real estate, and to pay fees and expenses necessary to the making and closing of the farm housing loan.

FARM HOUSING loans must be repaid within the shortest period consistent with the borrower's ability to pay but not longer than 33 years, with interest at four per cent. All farm housing loans must be adequately secured by a lien on the real estate.

Interested farmers who live in Dutchess, Sullivan and Ulster counties should make application at the Farmers Home Administration office, 54 John street.

Car Struck by Bike

Etta Koepen, 32, of 77 Foxhall avenue, reported to police headquarters at 10:30 a. m. today that William Mayr, 15, of 5 Wurts street, struck her 1950 sedan, which was parked in front of her home, while riding his bicycle. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by the woman and treated for an injured right hand, police reported.

May 4, said Soviet lookouts spotted a diver swimming between Russian destroyers which escorted Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze into the English Channel port. It fixed the time at 7:30 a. m. April 19.

The Russian note said the diver, wearing a "black light weighted diving suit with flippers on his feet, remained on the surface for a minute or two, and then dived again near the side of the destroyer Smotryashchy."

THE RUSSIAN embassy requested an explanation of "such an unusual fact as the carrying out of secret diving trials alongside Soviet warships visiting the British naval base of Portsmouth."

The British reply, dated Wednesday, said the diver was "to all appearances Crabb" but "his presence in the vicinity of the destroyers occurred without any permission whatever."

The note said Crabb "was carrying out diving tests and it is believed he perished during these tests." It added: "The British government express their regret over this incident."

BRITAIN HAS reported Crabb as missing and presumed dead while engaged in underwater equipment tests April 19 at Portsmouth. During hectic questioning in Commons last week, Eden said it would not be in the country's best interest to make any statement on Crabb's mission. The prime minister said Crabb had been working without government knowledge or permission and those responsible were "being disciplined."

Crabb was a World War 2 naval hero famed for his daring underwater exploits.

Woodstock Couple Scores Glenrie Bridge Club Win

The first full master point game at the Glenrie Bridge Club, 373 Washington avenue, Friday night drew a strong entry with pairs from Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Woodstock and Ellenville.

The result was a fine win for Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Greene of Woodstock who confirmed their recent consistently fine play by taking a substantial top from this experienced field.

THIS SUCCESS for the Greens, who are members of the promoting club, was even more outstanding because they played their first duplicate bridge when the club was organized a month ago.

David Snell and Hugo Schlatter of Kingston, playing with sound partnership, took second place. Third spot went to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maltzer of Newburgh. Harry Thayer of Ellenville and Laszlo Sima of Woodstock were fourth and Art Sherman and Fred Ellersick of Kingston fifth.

The club will hold its usual weekly fractional point game Friday, May 18.

State Building Code Accepted By Rosendale

The village of Rosendale has become the 190th community in the state to accept the applicability of the State Building Code commission.

Rosendale is the fourth municipality in Ulster county to take this action, the city of Kingston, the town of New Paltz, and the village of New Paltz, having previously passed similar resolutions of acceptance. Thirty-six per cent of the county's population lives in these four communities.

Rosendale is also the 100th village in the state now using the state code. There are, in addition, 68 towns and 22 cities in the total of 190 municipalities which have accepted its applicability.

Local officials administer enforce the state code in these communities. At the same time, the municipalities save the cost of the expert technical services and legal procedures required in the preparation and amendment of a local code.

Two Arrested After Collision Near Marlborough

Two arrests followed a three-car collision early last night on Route 9W in the town of Marlborough about 100 yards north of the Orange county line.

Robert Partridge 16, of Marlborough, was arrested by Troopers Charles Bundschuh and E. N. Buffett of the Highland state police on a charge of driving at a dangerous speed and Arc Angelo Joseph Fabbiano, 17, of Marlborough, on a charge of changing lanes unsafely. The cases are pending before Justice of the Peace Fred Woolsey of Milton.

NO INJURIES were reported. The vehicles were considerably damaged. Troopers said Partridge, operating a 1949 sedan, and Fabbiano, operating a 1951 sedan, were both traveling north at the time of the accident.

Partridge attempted to pass Fabbiano and Fabbiano pulled into the path of the passing vehicle, troopers said, striking the Partridge vehicle in the rear.

A THIRD VEHICLE, a 1955 sedan, operated by Eugene C. Masker, 20, of RD 2, Warwick, proceeding south, struck the Fabbiano car in the right front and the Partridge car in the left side.

The Masker car went off the west side of the road. The Fabbiano car left the highway on the west side and struck a post and the Partridge car went off the road on the east side and struck some guard rails.

MOTHERHOOD

There is a pleasant moral in the fact that the woman chosen as American Mother of 1956 is the mother of only one child but has been "mother" to 44 others.

The honor has come to Mrs. Jane Maxwell Pritchard, a Detroit widow whose only child is a son now 38 years old. Yet Mrs. Pritchard is still mothering a brood of 17 foster children. In past years she reared 27 others, mostly children from broken homes. Several are now married and have families of their own.

The moral we have in mind is that motherhood in its finest sense is a special quality involving much more than merely giving birth to offspring. Some women who have had children have scarcely been mothers at all, except biologically. For motherhood at its best is an outpouring of love and tenderness and care that might well be taken as a symbol of humanity's finest aspirations.

Mrs. Pritchard, though she has only one child of her own, has been a most remarkable mother. She does credit to the award that she has received. And many others, it can be said with truth, would be equally deserving of this high praise.

A TIME FOR STOCK-TAKING

The idea is growing in important quarters that a thoroughgoing review of this country's foreign aid program is much in order. It makes much sense, since we have not had one since 1947.

President Eisenhower favors review by a high level commission free of partisan leanings. Chairman Walter George of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee earlier had advocated a similar study and his suggestion gained the evident approval of the members of his committee.

A full study of foreign aid, preferably by an independent group not directly affiliated with government, would seem to serve significant purpose.

First of all, even assuming that those in the administration who now prepare foreign aid proposals are exercising utmost care, they are too close to the matter to see it with any detachment.

The program requires the dispassionate look of the outsider.

Back in 1947, when the Marshall plan was just shaping up, the nation got such a study.

One group, non-official, considered aid from the viewpoint of our capabilities. Another, under then Rep. Christian Herter of Massachusetts, examined it from the standpoint of the actual needs of our foreign friends.

From that time on we have been advancing foreign assistance, either economic or military, virtually without interruption. The emphasis has shifted from Europe to Asia and from economic to military, but the program has gone on.

It is no reflection on those who annually frame new aid plans to suggest that a certain haphazard, unsystematic element may have crept into a program that is now nearly 10 years old.

We need to be sure that in 1956, as in 1947, we are spending our billions wisely in terms of both foreign needs and our own ability to bear the load.

We need to be sure, too, that if the program is going to go on and on it will do so because of clearly understood purpose associated with high government policy.

Fears have increased over the years that the program is running to some extent on sheer momentum.

Some will say that a review of foreign aid would be designed simply to afford excuse for cutting it down.

It is known, for instance, that Senator George is in political difficulty in his native Georgia from former Gov. Herman Talmadge, a rival who is shooting at foreign aid "give-aways."

We can acknowledge that re-examinations of foreign aid often are urged by its opponents (which George never has been). But we cannot for that reason say that an impartial, high-minded study of the ques-

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE GIST OF THE PROBLEM

Everyone really prefers peace to war, particularly a war fought with atom and hydrogen bombs which can destroy the Earth. The only argument about the bombs is how many it will take to destroy the Earth and of what size? When the Russians or Adlai Stevenson or anyone else objects to hydrogen bomb testing, it is because the destructive capacity of a hydrogen bomb can be in its fall-out, and each one counts, whether it is used in warfare or as a test. Also there is no limit to the possible size of a hydrogen bomb. What that could mean is that hypothetically one bomb could be made large enough to destroy the world.

Facing that, everybody is for peace. Certainly, President Eisenhower is as much for peace as Party Secretary Khrushchev is for peace. The difference, however, is that Khrushchev demands that the United States make all the concessions so that they favor Soviet Russia, whereas Eisenhower wants peace on the basis that all nations conform to a general rule with special privileges for none. If the hydrogen bomb is to be abolished as a weapon of war, there must be universal inspection not only of stockpiles and manufacturing plants but also of the sources of raw materials. There must be constant and publicly-available reports and there must be a method for control of all operations. In this situation it is not sound to trust any country.

The Russians have made great strides in empire building and in creating a modern industry since 1939 when they went to war. But for them war now is especially dangerous because they require time to consolidate their gains, to justify the enormous sacrifices of the Russian and satellite peoples by raising their standards of living, and to strengthen the regime that has taken over both the party and the government since Stalin died.

In a broadcast from Moscow in English, this is made perfectly clear: "The Soviet Union is vitally interested in peace because without it our plans for economic and cultural development are not feasible. We Soviet men and women would like to see the efforts and funds now being expended on defense used for improving the living conditions of the peoples."

Then this broadcast went on to say: "We could be enjoying the highest living standards in the world today were it not for the funds and efforts we had to expend in repulsing the aggressors and invaders throughout the existence of Soviet power. Our chief goal on the home scene is to extend these various living standards, and that is why on the international scene we follow a policy of nonaggression, of constantly working for peace."

It is interesting that a broadcast from Moscow should be so urgent, so clear-cut, in this particular respect. The visit to Great Britain of Khrushchev and Bulganin it was hoped would reduce "world tension," when, as a matter of fact, there need not have been any world tensions had it not been, since 1943 (Teheran), Russian policy to build a world empire on the skeleton of the collapsing empires of the Western European countries.

The new regime may say and it undoubtedly does say that suspicions of their motives are based on the conduct and decisions of Stalin who is dead. They are willing to accept all the gains that Stalin made for them but none of the disadvantages of Stalinism. Were these men new to the Kremlin, perhaps a revolutionary group who had overthrown Stalin, there could be some justice to their plea. But these men were Stalin's assistants who carried out his orders and helped him in all his tortuous enterprises. It is impossible to regard them as other than Stalin's assistants now risen to his former powers. It is therefore impossible to remove from them the aura of suspicion that encircles them, and what is more Khrushchev proved that this general attitude is correct whenever he lost his temper in Great Britain.

True, nobody wants war, least of all the American people who have lost much and gained nothing in two wars. But also, the American people cannot be caught agreeing to all of Khrushchev's propositions without checks and controls and then find that while they have lessened their defenses, the Russian has strengthened his aggressive powers. We may be dumb, but not the dumbest. (Copyright, 1956, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

MENIERE'S DISEASE

Among the many different diseases which have been named after the person who first described them fully is Meniere's disease, named after a French physician born in 1799. It is a congestion and inflammation of the canals of the ears.

At the time that Meniere wrote, physicians had the tendency to lump all conditions characterized by dizziness, nausea and vomiting under the heading of brain congestion. Meniere stated that attacks of dizziness, nausea and vomiting are common and that among patients having such attacks, there is a distinct group whose attacks are of a definite nature in that they are characterized by loss of hearing sensitivity. He describes the deafness as of the type which has less ability to hear bass voices than treble. The disturbance may involve both ears but more frequently only one is involved.

On examination, the outer canal, the eardrum and the middle ear show no evidence of disease and before the onset of the disorder the patient has no symptoms in his ears. The deafness may come by fits and starts many years later but also may occur the first time there is dizziness. The patient usually states that although he can hear sounds, the sounds are distorted in the affected ear. Although speech can be heard in the affected ear, it frequently cannot be understood. Early in the disease, the degree of deafness tends to vary from day to day and from week to week.

There also is a ringing or singing sound in the involved ear which may be continuous or come on in bouts. This sound is usually of two kinds. The first is a roaring sound often likened to the sound of surf on seashore. The second type is like a high-pitched ringing.

Dr. Henry Williams, Mayo Clinic, states that he has found vasodilators (any drug that dilates the blood vessels) very helpful, particularly nicotinic acid which may be given by mouth in a dose of 50 mg. at the start and increased by a like amount in twice-daily doses until a dose that produces a moderate flush is reached. This dose will differ for different individuals. When the best dose for a person is reached, this is given daily on rising or at least on an empty stomach.

Some diet suggestions given are: (1) Avoid soda such as soda for the stomach, soda biscuits and soda drinks, and artificially softened water. (2) Avoid adding salt to food and avoid salty prepared foods such as sauerkraut, herring, caviar and the like. (3) Avoid salty broths and soups.

Diet Suggestions in Ringing Ears
Send for Dr. Barton's helpful leaflet entitled "Diet Suggestions in Ringing Ears," enclosing ten cents to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Foreign aid is no sacred cow.

If it is necessary to the safety of this nation and its friends, there is no doubt it will go on. Still, it is completely reasonable to seek an independent check upon it.

So long as that review is managed by able and honorable men, we need not fear that it could be used successfully by the program's enemies to destroy indirectly what they could not kill by open measures.

Leaning Tower of Strength

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington (NEA)—Trying to get something for nothing is standard operating procedure on most government handout programs. It provides the major catch in some 40 proposed amendments to the social security law, now being considered by the U. S. Senate.

Strangely enough, the people who run the social security system would still like to keep it solvent. This explains why they are opposing such things as increased federal grants to the states for the needy poor and a food stamp plan, tacked on to the present law.

Last year the House passed amendments which would, among other things, lower from 65 to 62 the age at which women could retire and start collecting old-age insurance. Also, under the House-passed bill, totally disabled people would be given retirement pay at age 50.

BOTH PROPOSALS are first steps in recognizable campaigns to lower the retirement age for both men and women to 60, and to remove all age limits on total disability benefits.

Everyone sympathizes with the humanitarian aims of these proposals. But it is recognized that they would cost hundreds of millions of dollars. The House therefore approved increasing the payments by employers and employees.

The present rate is now 2 percent on the first $4,200 of earnings, or $84 a year for both employer and employee. For the self-employed it's 3 percent, or $126.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

May 12, 1936—Fred J. Walter was elected president of the education board.
Joseph J. Disch was appointed to the police board.

The new city laboratory building, built as a WPA project, was expected to be in operation early in July.

The former Ulster & Delaware railroad shops on East Strand were being demolished.

May 12, 1946—Sidney Lutzin, head of the Kingston Recreation Department, was elected secretary-treasurer of the New York State Recreation Executives Association at a Syracuse meeting.

Leon Forst, of the Forst Packing Co. of this city, was re-elected a member of the Third Avenue Transit Corp., New York City.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn was selected as the Memorial Day speaker for rites in Port Jervis.

The City Softball League was due to open its season.

To cover the two major benefit increases, the House raised the payments to 2½ per cent, or $105 for employer and employee. For the self-employed, 3½ per cent or $147.50. These increases would raise an extra 1½ billion dollars a year.

This gets into important money, both as a total, and as a contribution from nearly 60 million employers and employees.

In many cases, people are now paying more in social security premiums than they are in income taxes.

THIS TREND will continue in the years ahead. If Congress should further lower income taxes by increasing the exemption $100 or $200 a year, it would be increasing it too.

Social security payments are already scheduled to increase one-half of one per cent a year every five years to 1975. They would then be 4½ per cent or $189 for employers and employees; 6½ per cent or $283.50 for the self-employed. Total collections would be 19 billion a year.

Social security system income and outgo are now practically in balance. There is every reason to continue sound financing.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Marion B. Folsom is opposing the expansion of benefits faster than social security collections justify. He also opposes expansion in any manner that runs counter to existing life trends. But he is being beaten over the head by pressure groups that want get added benefits without paying for them.

ON THE MATTER of lowering the retirement age of women Folsom points out that women now live about six years longer than men, on the average. Last year more than a million women of 60 to 64 were gainfully employed. The average age at which women now retire and start drawing old-age benefits from insurance is 68. This is a half-year less than retirement age for men, on the average.

The argument advanced against this is that most husbands are several years older than their wives. It is claimed that men can't afford to retire at 65 because the old-age insurance payments for one aren't big enough to support two.

The men therefore have to work till their wives become 65 and they can both get old-age insurance. If women could retire at age 62, the claim is that more husbands would retire at age 65, instead of working till 68.

Litzenberg Takes Over Marine Post
Parris Island, S. C., May 12 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Homer L. Litzenberg took over today as commanding general of this Marine recruit depot.

A former enlisted man with 32 years service, Litzenberg succeeded Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger who took over command of Camp Lejeune, N. C., Litzenberg's old post.

The change in commands was ordered by Gen. Randolph Pate, Marine commandant, after the drowning of six recruits here last month.

The victims were members of a platoon that was taken on an unscheduled, disciplinary march into a tidal swamp area.

The man who ordered the march, S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, is currently in custody awaiting court-martial for manslaughter and other charges.

TILLSON NEWS

Attendance Sought

For School Meeting

Tillson, May 11—The Tillson committee on school affairs, in close cooperation with the board of education, has released an open letter to board members and committees organized to investigate the problems of the school districts within the Town of Rosendale. The text of the letter, signed by G. A. Ryerson, chairman of the local committee, is as follows:

"This letter comes to you in the form of an invitation as a fellow board member, or interested taxpayer working out the problems of your school district's future."

"We would like to extend an invitation to you to meet with us to consider any common problems of views that we, as a group, may have pertaining to action due to loss of state aid, ideas on what consolidation will mean to us as rural districts, or any other plan that may be appropriate at this time presented at this gathering."

"A quotation received from another affected board member to us reads as follows: 'It is the opinion of this district that by withdrawing aid, the state has forfeited the control it has had, and that the affected schools make any arrangements that seem advantageous to themselves.'"

"This invitation at present is extended only to school board members and any committee organized to investigate this problem. The meeting will take place Monday, May 14, at the Tillson Elementary School Auditorium at 8 p. m."

"We sincerely hope that you will join us at this meeting and participate in one of the most important school meetings held in the township of Rosendale area."

Vacuumed Fish

Antioch, Calif. (AP)—A giant vacuum cleaner is keeping the fish, fishermen and the power company happy along the San Joaquin river. A pipeline sucks 400 million gallons of water daily from the river to cool the generators of the power plant. Along with the water come a horde of unwanted fish eggs and fish sucked in from a striped bass spawning bed. Biologists estimate the total at 19 million a year. The utility company isn't in the fish business. So it built a huge concrete room with mechanical dip nets, hydraulic fish lifts, traveling screens, bladeless impeller fish pumps, and a massive vacuum cleaner to send the fish and eggs shooting back into the river through another pipeline. The company says 90 per cent survive the free ride.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Summer is really around the corner in spite of the cold weather, for I just received the 1956 summer catalogue of the Art Students League of New York of which I am a life member. Their summer school is at Woodstock, and this time they covered the history of the art colony in their catalogue. I have been in the Woodstock building but never attend classes there, as I went to their school at 215 West 57th street in New York. It is a school run by the students themselves, have over a thousand students at one time, did in my day, and get the finest artists as instructors the world has to offer. We had students from all walks of life. They had students from the country, and from various foreign countries.

At heart we were all art students, paid our tuition and did the best we could. We had a cafeteria.

The article in the catalogue starts off with: "In winter Woodstock is a quiet Catskill village. In summer it blossoms out to become the capital of America's rapidly expanding art world. It is the place to see and be seen. . . It has become a kind of thoroughway . . . for non-resident artists, museum officials, connoisseurs, collectors, art teachers, students, anthropologists. . . Underneath there is a hard core of serious painters and sculptors. Woodstock, at first mainly an artists' colony, has broadened out to become a center for musicians, composers, writers, newspapermen, actors and playwrights. . . One day in the summer of 1902, a wealthy Englishman, Ralph Radcliffe Whitehead and two American friends, Hervey White and Bolton Brown . . . fell in love with the place so Mr. Whitehead bought a large tract of land and built charming Swiss-chalet type houses on it, and as the artists arrived this settlement began to be called 'Byrdcliffe,' and in 1905 Birge Harrison founded the Art Students League summer school. Since then, when folks took a drive in the evening or on a nice summer's day and one would ask, 'Where shall we go?' Someone always answered, 'Let's go to Woodstock.' Now with new developments it is growing into all directions with private swimming pools and beautiful homes with big picture windows, as the view is magnificent in any direction. I remember how the students at the league in New York used to say to me, 'You're only 14 miles from Woodstock, then you can drive there any time you want to.'"

May Day Rehearsals Being Held Daily; Program Is on 18th

With May Day scheduled for Friday, May 18, rehearsals for parade of the queen and her attendants as well as for the traditional entertainment are being held daily at the Kate Walton Field House. The program, which will take place at 10 a. m., will be held regardless of the weather since the ceremonies will take place, as last year, in the Field House.

At an election held by the members of the Senior class last month Dolores La Torre was chosen queen with Judy Van Gassbeck, maid-of-honor. The attendants will include Claire McMahon, Ruth Hart, Lois Gray, Elizabeth Harlow, Beverly Thomas and Diane Mower. Candy Shiels and Virginia Mae Miller will be trainbearers, while Johnny La Torre, nephew of the Queen, will act as crown bearer. The Queen and her court will march to the throne with Prime Minister Robert Bareika, class president, and Thomas Fleming and Alo Saluste banner bearers leading the procession. Your Life And Mine

By CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

NOISELESS CARPENTRY

Every hill and valley, every garden and field and alley is alive, just now, with forces that are as silent as a summer sky. Great things are taking shape under our very eyes—and without fuss or fume. Nature builds her wonders with a noiseless carpentry. Seeds sprout, the grass grows, blossoms take shape, harvests are fashioned; and no ear can glean the least hint that any project of beauty or of promise is under way. Ear evidence is completely lacking. And yet things too wonderful to describe are being built.

We have become so used to the racket which accompanies the manufacture of many products that we have almost sold out to the idea that nothing is going on unless there is a lot of noise. The greatest forces in the world are still the silent forces. Character is built silently. No one ever heard the noise of a nail being driven or a board sawed as the edifice of character went up. It takes shape under the impact of a noiseless carpentry. It is molded by the influences that are brought to bear daily upon it. Sometimes we are attracted to a house where a neighbor is making improvements by the pounding that goes on. But no one has ever heard an influence at work. It is one of those silent workmen—doing tremendous tasks with never the least hint that any project is under way.

Character is the moral and spiritual edifice that is fashioned in the silence of the soul. But the house of character is not built out of fairy materials. It is built out of the mortar of ideals, the lumber of convictions and the strong nails of time-tested truth. It is fashioned by the blueprint of parental example and every stage of the growing structure is guided by the architect called "conscience" whom somebody has to school in the enduring formulas for the building of immortal edifices.

When fire breaks out the sirens sound—and the whole city is alerted. But there is no siren to alert us to the fact that tremendous issues of eternal proportion are at stake in every home. The noiseless carpentry is always under way—for good or ill. The edifice of character is always taking shape. What will the completed building look like? That is a question for homes to be asking—NOW! If we work upon marble, it will perish.

If we work upon brass, Time will efface it. If we read temples, They will crumble into dust. But if we work upon immortal souls, If we imbue them with principle, With the just fear of God, And the love of fellow man, We engrave on those tablets Something which will brighten all eternity.

KHS Choir Presents Inspiring Concert; 100-Voices to Repeat Program Tonight

An inspiring concert was given at Kingston High School Friday night as nearly 100 students sang in the annual night school choir program under the direction of Leonard Stine, the choir is nearly perfect this year as it sings widely varied selections. The concert will be repeated tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

Enunciation, blending of voices, clean attacks and releases, strict attention to the director, all these are present. One can sense hours of meticulous rehearsals and wholehearted cooperation to achieve the best, behind this excellent concert sung by the high school young people.

Each group of songs showed several styles in the particular field. Opening with the great anthems of the church, the choir sang the chorale style "Grant Us Peace" by Rosenmuller-Klein; then the lovely Kief vespers song, "Light Celestial" Tschalkowsky; and finally the difficult Gloria in Excelsis from "St. Cecilia Mass" by Gounod, a highlight of the evening. Soloists in the "Gloria" were Delores Albrecht, Judith Lacey, sopranos; Richard Benoit, Kenneth Hyatt, tenors; George Armstrong, Robert Gallo baritone.

A large number of singers seemed quite capable of solo work and merited rewarding applause throughout the evening. Once again Cornelius Freer topped all of the soloists with his inborn talent for singing. He chose the tenor aria, "La Donna E Mobile" from "Rigoletto" by Verdi. He was followed closely in popularity and singing style by Rocco Autorino who chose Nocturne by Curran, Doris Herdman's lovely contralto voice was most expressive in Hageman's "Music I Heard with You." Hilda Kelley, soprano, showed considerable study behind the singing of the Mozart "Alleluia."

The tenors did seem to dominate last night's program with Richard Bunting singing "Widmung" by Schumann. William Schwartz's resonant bass was most suited to "Pilgrim's Song" by Tschalkowsky as was Donna Riseley's mellow soprano tones for "O Mio Babbino Caro" by Puccini.

Six of the young women formed the chorus for "Lift Thine Eyes" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." They were Carol Du-Lischke, Joan; Long, John; Loring, Kathryn.

Massive organ-like tones seemed to mark the concert as Mr. Stine called forth crescendos and accents. This was felt in the church music of the later in Ebb and Flow of the later folk song group. The voices were also able to move along with delicate melodies such as in the Celtic Hymn by Robertson. Rowley's "Jig for Voices" was so right for the young people as some set the beat with their voices while the others expounded the theme, "dance in the starlight and dance in the day."

The program closed with a group of spirituals including the lively "Rocka My Soul" arranged by Cain and the stirring "Jesus Walked This Lonesome Valley," arranged by Dawson. This concert had a happy ending with the singing of Van Heusen's "Country" Style (square dance) complete with clapping and vocal sound effects.

For encores the choir sang the ever popular Russian Picnic and the familiar Spiritual, "Set Down Servant."

Francine Turck is to be complimented for her accompaniments, several of which were most difficult. (CMS)

THE BELFAST

A Small House With A Surprising Amount of Room Space

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Three
Closets Seven
Cubage 16,200
Dimensions 30' x 24'

Three bedrooms, a large living room with a fireplace, a dining room and a combination kitchen-breakfast nook make up the rooms in this house. A bath upstairs, a lavatory downstairs, seven closets, built-in drawers in the upstairs bedrooms, built-in china closets and good storage space are other features that are certain to win the approval of many housewives.

The gable with the picture window, which stands out at the left, is the main point of interest on the exterior of the house. Set back from the gable, but protruding beyond the rest of the house, the front door further increases the exterior charms of this house. The slightly raised shed roof over the door is another attractive feature, while shutters on the front door and windows give the house a "settled" look.

Vertical lines of the gable effectively contrast with the horizontal lines of the clapboards and the fireplace, on the outside, adds a distinctive touch to the exterior.

Good Sized Hall

The front door opens into a good-sized hall. Light is provided through the panes in the upper door panel. An archway at the left leads into the living room while the archway to the right opens on the dining room. A handy coat closet and stairs to the second floor are located straight ahead.

Measuring 16' x 11' 4", the living room has a large fireplace on the outside wall. Flanked by windows, this fireplace is the center of attraction in the living room. Window seats with bookshelves underneath could easily be built under these windows and would further increase the charm of this section of the room.

On the back inside wall of the living room is a door leading to the den or bedroom. Measuring 11' 4" x 9' in dimensions, this room would make an ideal downstairs bedroom, for it is located conveniently near the lavatory and away from street noises.

Two windows provide plenty of light and good cross ventilation. There is a large closet on the inside wall next to the door that opens into the straight hall leading into the kitchen. If the builder prefers, the partition between this bedroom and the living room could easily be omitted to make a very spacious living room.

The cellar stairs, a large coat closet and the lavatory also opens off the central hallway.

At the very end of the hall is the kitchen breakfast nook which measures 11' 6" x 11' 4". Adjacent to the hall door on the right is a broom closet. To the left is the stove and the L-shaped working counter which extends along the back wall to a glazed side door. The sink is placed in the center of the counter beneath double windows. Overhead cupboards are arranged in an L pattern while there also is plenty of good storage space below the work counter.

Between the broom closet and a swinging door to the dining room makes an ideal location for the refrigerator. The breakfast nook, on the other side of this door, is well lighted by a window, and the handy counter with a rounded edge, located between the window and the door, could easily be used as a breakfast bar or serving table.

Side Door

Although a side door is included in the floor plan of the house, the home used as an illustration has a window instead. Actually the choice is up to the builder — with conversion to a door easily accomplished just by extending the window so that it becomes a door.

In the dining room the swinging door is flanked by built-in china closets in each corner. This room is 11' 4" x 11' and is well lighted by two windows. Upstairs are two bedrooms, both measuring 12' x 11' 4". A hall at the top of the stairs provides access to both rooms, a linen closet and the bath. A dormer across the back of the house makes it possible to install windows here and to provide full headroom. Light and cross ventilation are provided by two windows in both of the bedrooms.

There are two sets of built-in drawers in the bedroom at the right with a large closet planned on the inside wall, back to the stairs.

Entrance to the storage space underneath the eaves is gained through the bedroom at the left. Two sets of built-in drawers also are provided in this room at either side of the door to the storage area.

The space beneath the back windows in both bedrooms makes an excellent location for a desk, or it could be converted into a hobby corner or area in which the lady of the house could perform her sewing.

In the full cement cellar, the heating system should be installed underneath the living room. The house should be fully insulated.

Plans Available

Complete plans and specifications for "The Belfast" and other homes in this series are available at moderate cost. For plan prices write to Home Building Editor, Dept. KF, 87 Weybosset street, Providence, R. I.

Undercoat Needed

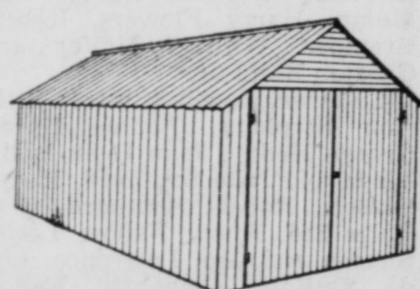

If you're changing the color of your garden furniture radically when you repaint it, it's a good idea to apply enamel undercoat before you begin with the new color. This is especially advisable if you're switching from a dark to a light hue.

Water Supply Should Be Soft

If you expect dishes to dry spotless in the automatic dishwasher, make sure your water supply is soft.

Dishwashing compounds tie up the hardness satisfactorily during the washing cycle. The trouble occurs when raw, unsoftened water is used in the rinsing cycle.

Hard rinse water deposits its mineral content—calcium and magnesium salts, in the main—on dishes, glassware and silverware. The dull, gray coating remaining after they dry, is hard to remove, even with vigorous toweling.

The best way to control hard water film, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, is to take out all of the hardness where the water supply enters the home, with a water softener. Home water softening equipment can be purchased outright from a plumbing contractor, or rented by the month from a water softening service organization.

Not only is softened water needed for better dishwashing results but it is equally necessary to protect the piping system, the bureau points out. Hot water service lines in particular, rapidly become scale-clogged from hard water.

This causes a condition of creeping pipeline paralysis, with reduced pressure at faucet outlets. Sooner or later the piping system has to be cleaned out to renew normal flow and pressure, an expensive undertaking. Hard water in the dishwasher may cause the valves to become hopelessly clogged. When this happens, there will be a complete breakdown until the equipment has been properly serviced.

Use Forward Motion When Filing Metal

When filing metal, be sure to do all of the cutting with the forward motion of the file. If heavy pressure is used on the back stroke, it will close the file grooves by bending over the undercut ridges. To clean a file or rasp, keep a file card (a stiff metal, brush-like tool) and a wire brush handy. Use the file card to clean the harder deposits, the wire brush for the remainder. When filing paint or rasping soft wood, use the wire brush often to prevent the grooves and teeth from becoming clogged and riding over the work. Brush a little oil over the file faces to prevent rust.

Laying Strip Hardwood Floors

Development of a faster and more economical method of installing strip hardwood floors in homes built on concrete slabs was reported recently in the trade magazine, American Builder.

The procedure retains the inherent advantage of floor warmth, dryness and comfort provided by the old system, according to the publication.

"This new method," it explained, "eliminates the need for wood sub-floors. The finish floor is nailed directly into wood screeds which, in turn, are embedded into asphaltic mastic spread in a generous layer over the concrete slab."

The 2x4-inch screeds are arranged in a staggered pattern in lengths up to 48 inches and with rows spaced 12 inches on center. This provides plenty of nailing surface for the finish flooring.

"Until recently," the magazine said, "the customary practice in laying hardwood floors over concrete was to employ wood sub-flooring as a nailing base. While this was excellent construction, it was comparatively expensive. The subflooring was nailed to screeds which were embedded and anchored into the concrete by means of mechanical fasteners."

The abundance of construction in recent years of homes built on concrete slabs laid directly on the ground has emphasized the importance of effective finish floors, according to the publication.

"Hardwood," it said, provides a measure of insulating value to the floor construction, in addition to the moisture barrier under the slab. It also has a resiliency that overcomes the uncomfortable hardness of concrete."

Detailed information on the system is presented in an illustrated folder available without charge from the National Oak Flooring Manufacturers' Association, 814 Sterick Building, Memphis 3, Tenn.

Redesign Bathroom For the Small Fry

Ever stop to think that to the small fry in the family your home seems to be designed for giants? Why not give them a break by redesigning it, at least partially, for them? In the bathroom, for instance, have towel bars installed low so that a child can reach them. Place a mirror low on the door so that the tot can check his appearance. Have a portable step so that he can reach the wash bowl easily. And be sure the walls and floor are waterproof so that some playful splashing in the tub won't upset mother.

Bahama Beats Smallwood for 22nd Win in Row

Syracuse, N. Y., May 12 (AP)—Here's a hot tip for middleweight hopefuls: Stay away from Yama Bahama's left hand. It may not be loaded with dynamite but, my, it can hit you often.

That was what Hardy Smallwood found out last night as Bahama of Bimini won his 22nd straight fight by outboxing and outscoring Smallwood. The decision was unanimous in the nationally televised and broadcast scrap.

Yama threw his left in a jab, a hook and uppercut so fast that it was difficult to follow. Smallwood knew where they were landing if not where they were coming from. After the fight, Bahama called Smallwood "a real tough boy." He said "I hit him with the best punches I had and they didn't seem to bother him at all."

Smallwood's camp figured Bahama had outsmarted their Brooklyn slugger by waiting him out and boxing cleverly throughout the 10 rounds in the Syracuse War Memorial.

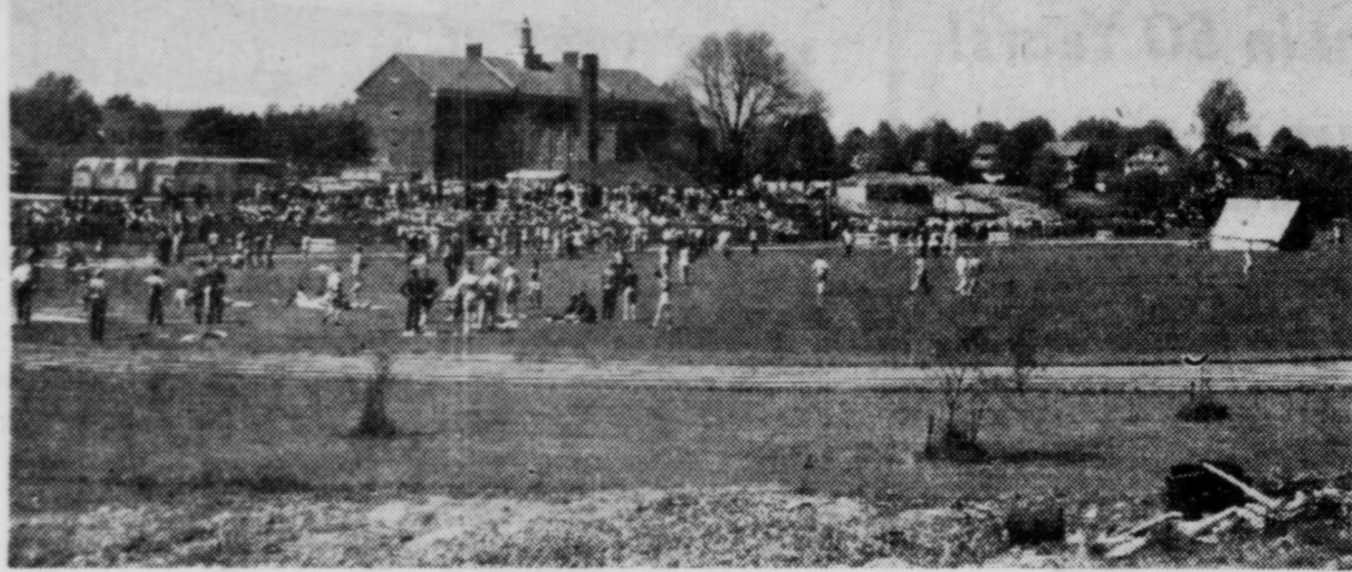

The 139 who turned out loved it and applauded heartily. The gross gate was $2,178.

Referee Barney Felix scored the bout 7-2-1. Judge Richie Fazio had it 6-4 and Paul Cummins 5-4-1. The Associated Press had Bahama on 20-1-1.

Bahama weighed 152 1/2, Smallwood 156.

Highland Beats Kerhonkson High, 12-6

McClinton Goes 5-for-5 to Spark Winners to Top

A nine-run explosion in the third inning carried Highland High School to a 12-6 victory yesterday over Kerhonkson High and lifted it into undisputed possession of first place in the Ulster County Athletic League.

It was the fourth straight win in the loop for Bob Relyea's surprising crew and their second over Kerhonkson in two days.

The victory snapped a first place deadlock with Saugerties High which had its game postponed with New Paltz Central.

Esau McClinton led the 14-hit barrage off Dick Smith and Tom Gilman with a perfect 5-for-5 afternoon. The slugging catcher stroked three doubles, a triple and bunt single for a total of 10 bases and drove in and scored three runs for the top hitting performance in the UCLAL this season.

Highland sent 12 batters to the plate in the rousing frame as they chased starter Smith and continued the assault off Gilman. Johnny Gersch and McClinton tallied the first two runs as Bob Valentino singled. A two-bagger by Phil Bazzaro with the sacks added sent in another pair after Dave Williams had singled across the third run of the inning.

JOHN GRUNER'S hit and doubles by Gersch and McClinton (his second of the stanza) knocked home the final tallies. Gersch was the winning pitcher taking over in the third from Valentino, who started. He gave up four runs and four hits, struck out six and passed three in the final five frames.

Other hitting stars were Williams with 3-for-3 and Valentino for-4 and four RBIs. Art Stockin and John Mustion got doubles for Kerhonkson who dropped their third loop game in five starts.

The gatekeeper was testifying in the case of the train demolishing the automobile at the crossing he guarded. He swore to the court that he had waved his lantern vigorously. The jury believed him, and awarded the verdict to the railroad.

Later, the railroad attorney said to him, "Railroad Attorney—See, O'Brien, you weren't nervous on the stand after all, were you?"

O'Brien—Sure and only once. If that fellow had asked me if the lantern was lit, we would not have had a chance!

Sentencing of Woman Put Off Till Monday.

Due to the absence of Dr. Alice E. Rost, who had been designated to examine Mrs. Geraldine Ray, imposition of sentence was again postponed Friday afternoon in County Court. A physical and mental examination had been requested by her attorney, Joseph Avis, and County Judge Louis G. Bruhn consented to a postponement last Wednesday in order that the examination might be had prior to sentence. Mrs. Ray was found guilty last week of permitting her children to molest neighbors without restraining them. Judge Bruhn adjourned the matter until 1:30 on Monday, May 14.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John told the court that due to the absence of Dr. Rost, the examination had not been made and he said he had no objection to postponement to permit the examination.

Judge Bruhn said he would continue the case as he was desirous of giving the defendant every opportunity to complete the requested examination and suggested if the examination could not be made by Dr. Rost that some competent physician be called.
